KBR is proud to work with its customers across the globe to provide technology, value-added services, and long-term operations and maintenance services to ensure consistent delivery with predictable results. As KBR, We Deliver. The map above shows our office and project locations at the end of the 2025 calendar year.

The ultimate parent company of KBR, which is KBR, Inc., is listed on the NYSE and is headquartered in Houston, Texas. KBR operates several wholly owned subsidiaries including Kellogg Brown & Root Limited (“KBRL”), which is based in Leatherhead, UK.

OUR SUPPLY CHAIN

KBR worked with over 7,100 - vendors/suppliers globally in 2025.

KBR, through its subsidiaries and joint ventures, provides direct and indirect engagement to its customers of labour, goods, and services. KBR’s indirect engagement consists of KBR subcontractors providing the labour, goods, and services to KBR and/or their customers.

KBR has a wide variety of global supply chains that are dependent on the type of project, KBR’s role in the project, and the project’s geographic location. KBR takes a risk-based approach to assessing human rights vulnerabilities in its supply chain, both during the onboarding process and throughout the project cycle. Certain subcontractors and lower tier subcontractors in high-risk countries are the focus of enhanced due diligence efforts to mitigate risks regarding human rights abuses.

The treatment of foreign and/or low-skilled employees working for KBR subcontractors in host countries is a particular area of focus for KBR and is addressed through its Combatting Trafficking in Persons (CTIPS) and Modern Slavery Act (MSA) programmes.

OUR ACTIONS

- KBR acknowledges its corporate responsibility to respect human rights as delineated in the United Nations Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights. KBR has adopted Human Rights as part of its Governance Corporate Pillar in its sustainability platform. KBR further recognises that modern slavery is a heinous crime that affects communities and individuals across the globe.
- KBR has existing policies and procedures in relation to Human Rights that include acknowledgement of the principles contained in the United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights. KBR’s Global Human Rights Policy, updated in 2025, sets forth the commitment to ensure its operations and supply chain are free from modern slavery, human trafficking and forced labour, and its commitment that the Company, its subsidiaries, its employees, suppliers, and its partners will comply with all applicable laws. Our human rights vulnerabilities are assessed at the board level and form part of our Enterprise Risk Management process.
- KBR is committed to the fair treatment and protection of migrant workers in accordance with the Dhaka Principles for Migration with Dignity. Furthermore, KBR expects its subcontractors, suppliers and business partners to enact and enforce similar migrant worker policies and protections.

- KBR's Code of Business Conduct | KBR recognises promoting human rights as its corporate responsibility and expects and requires all of its employees to adhere to the Code of Business Conduct. All employees are required to complete annual ethics training, which includes training regarding human rights.
- KBR has established an ethics hotline, where employees and others can report suspected inappropriate or unethical behaviour or human rights abuses, misconduct or violations of our Code of Business Conduct. KBR engages a third-party vendor to manage the ethics hotline, which permits reporters to maintain their anonymity.
- KBR's legal department, through its Business Integrity Team, promptly and thoroughly investigates any report that may indicate human rights violations and contacts the appropriate authorities when necessary.
- KBR's Sustainable Supply Chain Charter aligns suppliers' sustainability performance with the international guidance standard, ISO 20400, setting out the standards and goals to be adopted in the procurement of all goods, services and materials across all KBR activities. This includes commitments in respect of human rights, labour rights and fair operating practices that applies to KBR's Sustainable Procurement Policy and its Supplier Code of Conduct. The Charter is supported by annual sample desktop audits across non-US suppliers, ensuring KBR maintains visibility of its supply chains' ethical procurement practices and actions to address the risks of modern slavery.
- KBR's Supplier Code of Conduct, revised in 2025, reinforces KBR's zero tolerance for child or forced labour and trafficking in persons and requires suppliers to fully comply with these principles.
- KBR has developed digital tools to support supply chain interviews, audits and inspections, with a detailed modern slavery audit guide for staff to use when conducting in-person CTIPS interviews.
- KBR conducts CTIPS/MSA audits/inspections of certain key subcontractors that include interviews and surveys of subcontractor employees, housing inspections, and prevailing wage reviews.
- KBR conducts restricted party screening on subcontractors and vendors to ensure KBR is not doing business with any entities that are flagged for designated human rights abuses or subject to other watchlists/sanctions.
- In 2025, 47 selected 'Tier 1' suppliers working with KBR completed KBR's Awareness training on combatting Modern Slavery. KBR has offered modern slavery training across its non-US businesses since 2021.
- A desktop audit was conducted on 42 suppliers and subcontractors who specifically work with KBR in Tier 1, Tier 2, Tier 2 Watchlist, Tier 3 and Special Case countries (according to the US Department of State).
- During 2025 KBR conducted – a further 16 full in-person interviews at project sites in seven countries across Europe, the Middle East and Africa. Interviews were carried out at all different levels of the workforce from site management to chefs and cleaners. The outcome of these site audits has ensured that KBR's overseas suppliers are compliant with the organisation's rigorous standards. In addition to the in-person audits, 286 CTIPS audits were conducted in 2025.

OUR COMMITMENT (2026-2027)

The organisation is committed to taking ongoing steps to strengthen oversight of its operations, supply chains and third-party service providers, with the aim of protecting workers from exploitation and abuse, while continually monitoring and reassessing associated risks.

Progress against these objectives will be measured, monitored and reported through established governance frameworks. The organisation remains committed to the continuous improvement of its policies and procedures, with performance indicators in place to track and demonstrate ongoing progress in combatting modern slavery across all areas of the business and its supply chain.

During the forthcoming year, KBR intends to spin-off the government services segment of its business into a stand-alone, public company. The expected closing date for this transaction will be in January 2027. Upon the closing, there will exist two independent public entities, and each of the resulting businesses remains committed to upholding the aims and objectives set out in this statement with respect to combatting modern slavery. Each entity will maintain appropriate policies, procedures and oversight mechanisms to ensure ongoing compliance with applicable modern slavery legislation and the principles outlined herein.

This statement constitutes KBRL's U.K. Modern Slavery Act Statement for the year to the end of December 2025, having been approved by the Board of Directors of KBRL on 29 May 2026. It is made in accordance with Section 54(1) of the UK Modern Slavery Act 2015 and is submitted on behalf of the entities listed in the Schedule to this statement. This statement will be published on the relevant KBR website.
